Explanation

The recommended group strategy is to:

- Make user accounts members of global groups.
- Make global groups members of domain local groups.
- Assign permissions to the domain local groups.

In this lab, universal groups are not necessary because there is only one domain. Universal groups should be used when you need to grant access to similar groups defined in multiple domains.

The following table outlines the groups, group scopes, group types, and group memberships required for this lab:

Group Name	Group Scope	Group Type	Members
Support	Global	Security	All user accounts in the Support OU and the Support sub-OU's
Support Resources	Domain local	Security	Support group

You should have completed the following:

1. From Hyper-V Manager, select CORPSEVER.
2. Right-click CorpDC and select Connect.
3. From Server Manager, select Tools > Active Directory Users and Computers.
4. Browse to the Support OU.
5. Right-click Support and select New > Group.
6. Enter the group name (a pre-Windows 2000 group name will be created automatically but can be changed).
7. Select the group scope.
8. Select the group type; then click OK.
9. Repeat steps 5-8 to create additional groups.
10. Modify the group membership as follows:
 - a. Right-click the group and select Properties.
 - b. Select the Members tab.
 - c. Select Add.

- d. Select Advanced.
 - e. Select Find Now.
 - f. Under Search results, hold down the Ctrl key and select the users or group you want to add.
 - g. Click OK.
 - h. Click OK to add the new group member.
11. Repeat step 10 for additional groups.
12. Select OK to apply the changes.
